
B U S I N E S S

Star Business News ...

Kucera directs community relations for Menger Springs

Chance Kucera is the new director of community relations of Morningside Ministries' Menger Springs community in Boerne, Morningside Ministries President and CEO Alvin Loewenberg announced.

Morningside Ministries is a faith-based, not-for-profit ministry serving older adults for almost 50 years.

Chance Kucera

The Menger Springs community offers a complete continuum of care including independent retirement living, memory care, assisted living and a wellness and rehabilitation center.

“As we grow our Boerne community, we are excited to add Chance to our team,” Loewenberg said. “Chance has a passion for our mission and is native to the Boerne community. We look forward to growing with our Boerne neighbors through his efforts.”

As director of community relations, Kucera will be responsible for planning, directing and managing the marketing and public relations functions at Menger Springs which includes the oversight and coordination of marketing plans.

Kucera most recently served as director of business development for a Boerne company specializing in construction. Prior to that, he worked as a land consultant in New Braunfels. Born and raised in the Texas Hill Country, Kucera graduated from UTSA with a degree in general business and a minor in marketing.